

Dear University of London student,

If you are planning to sit any University of London examinations in the April / May / June 2026 session, then it is important that you read this message from the British Council. This email provides guidance that you should follow to ensure you are able to register for your exams successfully and sit in this session rather than having to wait until October / November 2026.

- The University of London Assessment Entry Task (registration and payment for examinations) on the Student Portal for UG Laws and EMFSS on 02nd February 2026. You need to submit your intention to sit an exam(s) on the Assessment Entry Task.

- Registration Timeline: 02nd February at 00:01 UTC (midnight) and closing 09th March at 23:59 UTC (midnight).
- If you do not submit your registration in the University of London Assessment Entry Task by 09th March 2026, then you will need to contact the University of London and provide a valid reason for consideration. Your exception request is not guaranteed to be accepted. If the University of London accepts your exception request, then the University will contact the British Council and request we support the registration. You should be aware that any exception approved by the University will result in you being required to pay a higher exam fee, which will be notified to you.
- You will receive an email from the British Council between one to two weeks before the exam session starts provided you have completed the steps above. This email will contain exam appointment details for all registered and paid modules, as well as venue address and other guidance. This email is known as UOL CBT AMJ 2026 - Candidate Venue Details.

If you have any questions regarding this e-mail, then please contact the University of London by raising an enquiry via your University of London student portal and not the British Council. The British Council will only respond to queries arising from UOL CBT AMJ 2026 - Candidate Venue Details emails it has sent nearer the exam date.

The British Council wishes you the very best with your studies.

British Council.
