

June 2022 Holiday Study Camp Overview

Secondary

At the British Council, we understand that Secondary learners are preparing for their future academic studies and beyond as global citizens. Our June Holiday Study Camps will help them develop the skills they need while exploring real world topics in depth. They will widen their understanding of our interconnected world and combine academic skills with 21st century competencies. Our holistic programme will develop the skills of confidence, communication, problem solving that will carry them forward to achieve their future goals in school and in life.

Each theme explores a range of topics focussing on written or spoken communication, including tasks that prepare learners to persuade, negotiate, express themselves and be creative in an engaging supportive environment.

Camps are Monday to Friday, 1.30 p.m. to 5.30 p.m.

Date	Age/Level	Camp name
Monday 30 May to Friday 3 June	Secondary	Survival Skills: A Comprehension and Critical Thinking Course

While reading about people who have faced challenging situations, you'll learn techniques to evaluate and understand fiction and non-fiction texts. The engaging texts will provide you with the language, ideas generation and organisational skills you'll need to apply your understanding to produce short responses to your reading. This will enable you to look more closely at the reading you do, setting you up for the future!

Monday 6 to Friday 10 June	Secondary	Our World: Non-Fiction Writing Skills
-----------------------------------	------------------	--

Our World examines our planet from a scientific perspective. Looking at issues as diverse as the weather, our reliance on plastic and water worlds, learners will explore different types of non-fiction text types including letters, reports, procedures, and expositions.

Monday 13 June to Friday 17 June	Secondary	Great World: Writing Success
From inventions to people, nature to technology, our planet has a diversity of greatness to celebrate. In this week learners will explore these achievements while improving digital, narrative, report and persuasive writing skills. By the end of the week, learners will present a video they have made on the area of greatness they most believe in.
Monday 20 to Friday 24 June	Secondary	Connected World: Public Speaking Skills
Our students spend much of their time connecting with others via social media. In Connected World they'll investigate how the past has shaped our present, how transport has changed the way we live, and how energy and people are changing our future. Through activities designed to develop learners' critical thinking skills, they'll learn to present, debate and justify their opinions. The course finishes with learners choosing to share all that they've learnt through a video presentation, a shared story, or a persuasive presentation.
